TODAY'S DISCUSSION

- Define learning hubs, learning campaigns, and personalized learning paths, and explain the relationship between them.
- Articulate how learning campaigns address all moments of learning need, not just formal instruction.
- Identify what resources, activities, and lessons should be included in a learning campaign.
- Design formal learning campaigns and personalized learning paths by arranging, and rearranging, resources.
- Perpetual Learning Design™

CAMPAIGNS ARE MADE UP OF...

LESSONS

A lesson is where people learn something new. This could be via a virtual classroom, eLearning module, video, reading, or a variety of other methods of delivering new content.

RESOURCES

A resource supports something that has been learned, either as a reminder (infographic, job aid) or to assist through a process (tool). It is not meant to be the primary learning method. A resource is reusable and easily accessible LATER, and can be used to support a lesson, but has enough context to stand on its own.

ACTIVITIES

An activity is the opportunity to apply what has been learned in some way. There are many types of activities, including reflection activities, formal assessment activities, application oriented practice activities, and social/collaborative activities.

ENGAGING MODERN LEARNERS

WHEN TO PUSH WHEN TO PULL

5 GUIDING PRINCIPLES FOR MODERN WORKPLACE LEARNING

Jane Hart

1	2	3	4	5
Supporting a much wider range of learning experiences	Loosening control and autonomy	Supporting and enabling learners; not just about designing and managing content	Focuses on performance, not just learning	A new relationship between Learning & Development and the business

5 MOMENTS OF LEARNER NEED

Gottfredson and Mosher

Respond to the learner in their moment of need

1	2	3	4	5
When learning for the first time	When learning more	When remembering and/or applying what's been learned	When things go wrong	When things change

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Stephen J. Gill

PUSH		PULL
IN A TRAINING CULTURE LEARNING IS:		IN A LEARNING CULTURE LEARNING IS:
Instructor-centered	Learner-centered
Event-based	Continuous
Centralized	Decentralized
Siloed	Shared
All about delivery (output)	All about results (impact)
